

Mysteries and Evidence

Turn clues into a supported solution after each book.

How does a reader turn clues into a solution?

| Book                                                                              | Strongest cluewhat can be observed or stated | What does it support or rule out?connect evidence to a theory |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Deductive DetectiveBrian Rock                                          |                 |                                  |
| Nancy Drew and the Clue Crew #3: Pony ProblemsCarolyn Keene            |                 |                                  |
| Farm Crimes! Cracking the Case of the Missing EggSandra Dumais         |                 |                                  |
| West Meadow Detectives #1 The Case of the Snack SnatcherLiam O'Donnell |                 |                                  |
| Lark Holds the KeyNatasha Deen                                         |                 |                                  |
| Lark and the Diamond CaperNatasha Deen                                 |                 |                                  |

What makes one explanation stronger than another?